

ELDERS & KNOWLEDGE KEEPERS

Speaking the Language of the Land Program

Qweqwetsin Family & Healing Lodge Society

Q Healing is inviting Secwépemc Elders, fluent speakers, and Knowledge Keepers to share their language and knowledge through our Speaking the Language of the Land program. Opportunities are available for those interested in supporting language revitalization, land-based learning, and the sharing of traditional plant and medicine knowledge.

Opportunities

- On-the-Land Language Camps: Join community language camps and help bring Secwepemctsín into land-based activities, cultural teachings, and everyday conversation.
- Zoom Language Classes: Participate in online language classes as an Elder, fluent speaker, or Knowledge Keeper and support learners in strengthening their Secwepemctsín.
- Traditional Plant & Medicine Knowledge: Participate in knowledge interviews and teachings related to traditional plants, medicines, harvesting, preparation, land-based practices, and associated Secwépemc knowledge.
- Curriculum & Learning Resources: Contribute language, teachings, stories, and knowledge to educational materials being developed through the program.

Honoraria & Travel Support

Honoraria are provided in recognition of the time and knowledge shared by participating Elders and Knowledge Keepers. Gas cards are also available to help with travel costs for in-person language camps, interviews, and program activities.

Interested in Participating?

Please contact us at info@qhealing.ca and include your name, community, preferred contact information, and the language or knowledge areas you would be interested in sharing.
